

“Pupils’ attitudes to learning are excellent”

October 2015

Packwood is praised for its educational and pastoral provision across the board:

- Pupils are well educated; they leave the school as confident young people, fulfilling the school’s aims to build confidence and develop character
- The good subject-specific skills pupils acquire, accompanied by a strong work ethic, prepare them extremely well for the next stage of their education
- Pupils’ attitudes to learning are excellent. They apply themselves conscientiously and work hard
- Teachers convey their enthusiasm for their subject to the pupils, who in turn respond positively and enthusiastically
- The well-planned curriculum is supported by an excellent programme of extra-curricular activities which enriches the pupils’ learning experiences
- Particularly high standards in art and music
- Pupils’ physical development is excellent
- The school’s inclusive ethos and positive work ethic enable pupils of all abilities to flourish
- The pupils’ personal development is excellent, underpinned by a clear ethical and moral code
- Pupils and parents praised the caring, considerate and supportive ethos of the school
- Excellent relationships between teachers and pupils create a culture of learning and promote very high standards of behaviour and courtesy
- Pastoral care is a strength of the school. Committed and caring staff provide excellent support and guidance
- The quality of boarding provision and care is excellent
- Boarders develop key qualities such as tolerance, confidence and independence
- Parents are extremely satisfied with the education and care provided by the school, and report positively on all aspects of its provision
